[Insert title of invention]Second Opinion Selection System

Abstract

This invention, relates to a generic system and method for supporting hiring decisions based on biographical information blank input, more particularly, this system and method yields superior decisions through the use of soft computing technologies (fuzzy logic, neural networks, and genetic algorithms) to better score biographical information blanks.